PIRC Corporate Governance and Responsible Investment Journalism Awards 2013 winners announced

The winners of the PIRC Corporate Governance and Responsible Investment Journalism Awards 2013 have been announced.

The Corporate Governance Journalist of the Year is Tom Bergin of Reuters.

The Responsible Investment Journalist of the Year is Rob Davies of the Daily Mail.

This is the fourth year the awards have been presented, and they have been organised and sponsored by PIRC and Robbins Geller Rudman & Dowd LLP.

Alan MacDougall, PIRC's managing director, said: "We are greatly encouraged by the increasing interest shown by the national press in corporate governance and responsible investment issues. We believe these are important areas that require proper scrutiny, so we are happy to be supporting those journalists that are bringing them to public attention. As always, this had been a tough competition. Therefore Tom and Rob deserve our congratulations for winning their respective awards."
